April 29-30, 1944
Atlanta, Georgia

On April 29 and 30 the spring meeting of the Georgia Ornithological Society was held in Atlanta, and I was able to attend. Luncheon and business session in the Lanier Room of the Davison-Paxon Department Store, a visit to the High Museum of Art to see the original bird prints belonging to Walter C. Barnwell, the informal dinner at the Woman's Club, at which 90 members and guests were present, and a field trip and breakfast at Fernbank Forest, during which 68 species of birds were recorded, were the highlights of this meeting.
